CURRENT EVENTS.

A Calcutta telegram of the 20th gives the following particulars of the recent terrible disaster in Eastern Bengal: Three large islands, namely, Hattiah, Sundeep, and Dakhan Shahabazhare, and numerous smaller islands included in Backergunge, Nookholly, and Chittagong, were entirely submerged by the storm-wave of Oct. 31, as was also the mainland for five or six miles. These islands are all in or near the estuary of the River Megua. The largest, Dakhan Shahabazhare, is 500 square miles in extent. It had a population of about 240,000. Hattiah and Sundeep, together, had about 100,-000 population. Up to about 11 o'clock signs of danger, but before midnight a wave swept over the country to the depth, in many places, of twenty feet, surprising the people in their beds. Dense groves of cocoanut and palm trees around the villages enabled many to save themselves by climbing among the branches. Some at Wallace, Kit Carson, and other points aged 51, murdered his wife, Barbara, with took refuge on the tops of their on the railroad, for protection. houses, but the water burst the houses asunder, and swept out to sea. Some were carried thus across the channel, ten miles, to the Chittagong District, but the vast majority were never heard of again. The country is perfectly flat, and almost every one perished who failed to reach the trees. There is scarcely a household on the islands, and on the adjacent coast, but lost many members. The cattle are all drowned, the boats are swept away, and the means of communication with the other districts is destroyed. There is much distress among the survivors, which the Government is relieving. The Government Gazette says that wherever the stormwave passed it is believed that not a third of the population survived. The islands have barely one-fourth of their former inhabitants. The stench from the putrifying bodies is insufferable, and a general outbreak of the cholera is expected.

A London telegram of the 21st says: The Foreign Office publishes a dispatch in which Lord Loftus, British Ambassador to Russia, reports in detail what passed at the audience he had with the Czar Nov. 2. He reports that the Czar said he had sent the ultimatum to the Porte because he feared the discomfiture of the Servian army might be followed by atrocities. The Porte had, by a series of maneuvers, frustrated all atent state of things was intolerable. Unless Europe was prepared to act firmly and energetically he would be obliged to act for which point a cavalry command, letter the Roman Empire, late Chamberlain to his Majesty the King of Bavaria, fellow of the Theosophical Society, etc., in compliance with wishes exalone. He regretted to see that inveterate suspicion and continual fear of Russian aggression still existed in England. The Czar reminded Lord Loftus that he had on several occasions given most solemn assurances that he desired no conquest. He had not the smallest wish or intention to acquire Constantinople. Such an acquisition would be a misfortune for Russia. The dispatch adds that the Russian Government reasys ago. Owing to bad health he did that it shall have publicity. ### THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

South Carolina.

The South Carolina Sprireme Court, or the 224, issued a peremptory mandamus to the Board of State Canvassers to issue certificates to members of the Senate and House of Representatives appearing on face of returns to be elected, the final contests in the House to be decided by the members themselves. The effect of this order would be to place the organization of the Legislalature in the hands of the Conservatives. The Legislature counts the votes for Governor and Lieutentant-Governor and elects a United States Senator. The Court also, in the case of the Electors, ordered the Board to show cause why they should not correct the statements of the County Canvassers by the precinct returns in their possession. Pending these pro-ceedings of the Court, however, the Board held a session and issued certificates to all the members of the Legislature, except for Laurens and Edgefield Counties, thus securing a majority of the Leg-islature to the Republican side, and the defeat of Hampton and the election of Chamberlain. The Board also issued cer-tificates of election to the Hayes and Wheeler Electors and all the Republican State ticket. The Board then adjourned sine die. The action of the Board caused great excitement, and Gen. Rampton issued an address to the people, advising all to keep the peace, and assuring them that the action of the Board could have no legal effect what-In explanation of their course in adjourn-

Nov. 23.—Judge Spofford, of counsel for Democratic candidates, submitted a motion that orders be issued instructing all Supervisors to file their returns immediately, it being alleged that many of the delayed returns had been for some days in New Orleans in the hands of Republican officers. The motion was granted. The canvass of three a ditional parishes—Iberville, Union and Whitaker—was completed.

that all evidence must be in before the close of the coming week, or the Board would not be able to get through with its deliberations. The most noteworthy event of the session was the opening of the sealed package of returns from De Soto Parish, purporting to have been received in its present condition on the 18th inst. A number of protests and affidavits were found enclosed, and among them an affidavit charging intimidation, which was sworn to in New Orleans before a Commissioner on the 25th. This discovery caused quite a ripple of excitement; and the Democrats present charged that a plapable fraud had been attempted. The matter was explained by the Secretary, to the effect that there were two packages of returns from De Soto, and the original package was finally produced and opened, and was found to contain a statement of votes and Commissioners' returns, but no protests or affiliavits.

A Cure for Bashfulness.

The Crown Prince of Germany had a very timid servant who could not answer the most simple question without blushing and being confused. This conduct did not please the heir-spparent to the throne of Germany, who is far from being a tyrant in his house-hold, and he kindly advised one of his chamberlains to instruct the servant so that he would not be so awkwardly respectful next time. When the Crown Prince got home that evening he was surprised to find the bashful servant waiting for him with a broad and genial smile on his countenance. "Who is here?" asked the Prince. "Only the old man!" smilingly replied the valet. (He referred to the Emperor of Germany.) "Great Moltke! he is drunk!" said the Crown Prince, starting back in astonishment. "Lord! No! He isn't more'n half tight," replied the servant, pleasantly. Apparently the chamber lain's lesson had borne fruit.

The Earth Treatment of Ulcers.

The dry earth treatment for ulcers is found quite successful. ## A Judge's Beltberate Suicide.

Judge Martin Shaw, living in the southern portion of this county, com-mitted suicide last Monday morning by cutting his throat. Judge Shaw rose between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, and, after dressing, stood some time before the fire conversing with some of his family, apparently in his right mind. Just before daylight he walked ed number of persons are now being admitted by ticket. The wealth of the Duke of Westminster is proverbial. A great part of the wealthy and populous house they found their father had not district of Westminster belongs to him, and they then went in search and the leases of the houses of this of him.
